

Behavioral Health Basics for the Dental Office

Understanding the connection between behavioral and oral health

A training for dental staff to understand the connection between behavioral and oral health and their role in referring patients.

A blue square with a white geometric pattern of overlapping triangles. The text "83%" is written in large, bold, white sans-serif font in the center.

83% Percent of trainees that reported an increase in confidence having conversations with their patients

A blue square with a white geometric pattern of overlapping triangles. The text "100%" is written in large, bold, white sans-serif font in the center.

100% Percent of trainees recommend this training to others

Details

Details

Virtual training spread over 2 lunch hours, led by behavioral health professional (MSW)

Requirements

Requirements

A pre-training meeting is required to identify appropriate referral sources and review current/recommended intake screening questions

Cost

Cost

Free for the dental office, sponsored by Oral Health Unit, CDPHE

Objective

Objective

After the training, dental teams will be comfortable having basic conversations around behavioral health, utilize tools such as motivational interviewing, and know where /how to make a referral should it be required

Interested?

We're eager to hear from you

Contact US

Sponsored by : Oral Health Unit CDPHE

COLORADO
Department of Public
Health & Environment